

Job Announcement – Senior Estimator, Architectural Metals, LLC

Andgar Architectural Metals is seeking an experienced Senior Estimator. The Senior Estimator is responsible for the overall project estimate while providing leadership, training, and mentoring for their team. Must have experience working with clients, architects/engineers, and subcontractors/ suppliers to plan cost factors for building projects. This role analyzes construction documents, specifications, proposals, and other documentation to prepare time, cost, and labor estimates for projects in our Building Envelope area.

Required:

- A strong background managing large commercial construction projects; contract administration
- 5-7 years' experience in customer development, sales strategies, establishing budgets, negotiating contracts, and managing results
- Experience in negotiating design-build projects, market development, and customer fulfillment

Andgar has a long history of working with architects, general contractors and building suppliers who know our decades of experience and record of safety has brought value to their construction projects up and down Puget Sound's I-5 corridor. With over a thousand architectural metal jobs completed locally, our reputation is unmatched; we stand behind our word.

Our corporate headquarters are in beautiful Ferndale, WA, just minutes South of the US/Canadian border, "where the mountains meet the sea". We offer competitive compensation, 401k, paid holidays, Medical/ Dental/ Vision, and a PTO program.

If you would like to join a growing organization in the gorgeous Pacific Northwest, please submit your resume and cover letter to us at careers@andgar.com